

Commission Stand Not That of WR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Tuesday that the state Publicity and Parks Commission has adopted a resolution regarding the Buffalo River issue that "is diametrically opposed to the position I have taken."

Rockefeller expressed surprise when it was learned through an examination of minutes of a Feb. 10 commission meeting that it adopted a resolution saying it would not give the Buffalo River State Park to the National Park Service for a national river park.

Rockefeller, saying he had had no discussions with commission members about the resolution, said, "I consider the national river project a great triumph for our recreational development."

The commission went on record two years ago to not take sides on the controversial issue of whether or not to dam the river.

Minutes of the meeting show that C. R. Thorne of Russellville introduced the resolution which was seconded by C. E. Tudor of Mountain View. It was adopted unanimously.

Tudor is the son of James R. Tudor of Marshall, head of the Buffalo River Improvement Association which has led a fight to dam the Buffalo River.

At Mountain View, C. E. Tudor said the commission saw no reason to give up control of the park since persons in the area were satisfied with state control.

"They don't see any reason for the state to donate this multi-million dollar facility to the national government," he said. "This is what the resolution is about."

Tudor also said the people of the area had been trying to talk with Rockefeller to give him their views but that so far they have "been limited to negotiating with an aide of the governor."

Tudor also said he did not believe the commissioners had to talk policy with Rockefeller. "If the governor intends to run our commission he ought to come to the meetings," Tudor said.

Scratch Name of Rock Hudson From List of Actors in Politics

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Scratch the name of Rock Hudson from any list of Hollywood box-office kings who may aspire to enter the political arena.

Although he admits to some government experience — he once was a mail carrier for three months — the 6-foot-4 film star says it left him without any burning desire to become U.S. postmaster general.

"Politics bores me, and so does talking about it," he said, smiling. "I'm not interested in becoming a political candidate at any level."

"After Ronald Reagan was elected governor of California, I did have a dream that I was running for sheriff, but even in the dream I couldn't figure out for the life of me why I wanted to be sheriff. It was a real nightmare."

What is Hudson's big goal then, if not public service?
"I want to be a damn good actor," he said, "and I don't think I'm a damn good actor yet."

Whatever his ultimate professional ranking may be, as a performer Hudson has been one of the most successful in the history of the film industry.

Since 1948, he has been in 52 pictures, an average of more than 2½ each year. In 1966 he turned out three — "Blindfold", "Seconds", and "Tobruk".

As the years go by Hudson is more at ease in the role of film star, a part he found difficult to play at first because of an almost overwhelming feeling of shyness which has bothered him since he was a big awkward kid in his native town, Winnetka, Ill.

"I used to be terribly, painfully shy — so shy that I wouldn't talk," he recalled. "Now I'm no longer painfully shy, but I'm still shy. A lot of Midwest children are that way, and I don't know exactly why."

Kennedy's Body Quietly Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of President John F. Kennedy was transferred without ceremony Tuesday night to a temporary grave it has occupied since his assassination in 1963 to its permanent resting place in a granite memorial a few yards away.

The bodies of two children who died before their father, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and a stillborn infant, were placed near the president's body in the memorial.

The new Kennedy grave, like the old, is on a hillside in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from Washington.

The torch which has burned with only a few interruptions since the original burial on Nov. 26, 1963, was transferred to the memorial gravesite. Its flickering light will be visible from the Lincoln Memorial on the Washington side of the river.

Rain fell on workmen as they put the finishing touches to the reinterment early today.

and his defiance of a New York court order in a defamation suit which he lost.

A special committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., held that Powell met the constitutional qualifications of age, citizenship and residency and should be seated but punished.

But a majority of the House refused to follow its leaders and decided that the Harlem preacher didn't measure up to the moral qualifications it demands of its members. It acted under a provision of the Constitution which says each House of Congress shall be the judge of the qualifications of its members.

The House Tuesday hired its own lawyer to uphold its position that the courts have no jurisdiction over who does or does not qualify for House membership. Bruce Bromley, New York attorney and former judge, was given the job. His fee wasn't disclosed.

Lonesome for Oklahoma GOPs

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Things get a little lonesome once in a while for the 10 Republicans in Oklahoma's Senate.

So Sen. Don Ferrell, publisher of the Lincoln County News at Chandler, decided Tuesday he would go someplace where he would be in the majority for a change — a luncheon meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

After voting on an item of business that passed unanimously, Ferrell commented, "That's the first thing I've voted for all week that passed."

Letters to the Editor

A TV APOLOGY

Editor The Star: The 6:00 P.M. and 10:00 P.M. News on KTHV, Friday, March 3, erroneously identified a film clip as showing Rep. Talbot Field, Jr., supporting a Senate bill which provided for limited casino gambling in Garland County.

Actually, the film clip was of Rep. Ray Smith. Rep. Field, in fact, opposed passage of the measure. Although an apology to Rep. Field and to his constituents was made the following night on the 10:00 P.M. News, it is almost axiomatic that mis-information receives greater currency than subsequent correction.

Therefore, I respectfully call on your good offices to support my efforts to advise voters in Rep. Field's district that he opposed the aforementioned legislation.

Again, my sincere apology to Rep. Field and to his constituents. Yours truly,

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JIMMY WAYNE FRY

The marriage of Miss Chris Alexander and Jimmy Wayne Fry was solemnized Saturday evening, February 25, in the First Community Baptist Church at Rock Hill. The Rev. H. T. Burrow officiated at the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius A. Alexander of Maud, Tex. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Fry of Hope.

Prior to the wedding ceremony, Miss Wilma Jean Lynch of Redwater, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mr. Sonny Merritt also of Redwater, who sang "I Love You Truly."

The couple exchanged vows beneath a wedding arch surrounded by large baskets of gladiolas and carnations. Two fourteen-branch candelabra completed the decor at the altar. Pews for the family were marked with white satin bows and a small arrangement of gladiolas and carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white kitten pole, designed with a scooped neckline and long sleeves tapering into the bridal point over her hands and fastened by tiny covered buttons. Enhancing the bodice was applied chiffon wedding bells. The skirt and train of the wedding gown were edged with imported reemboled lace roses. The three tiered veil of white illusion was attached to a terra encrusted with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a diamond necklace, a gift from her parents. In keeping with the bridal tradition, she wore "something old, new, borrowed and blue with a sixpense in her shoe." She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white roses and centered with a white orchid and showered with satin streamers tied in love knots and accentuated with white roses.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her attendants: maid of honor, Miss Cheryl Buck of Texarkana, and bridesmaids, Miss Brenda Jones and Miss Judy Alexander, both also of Texarkana. The attendants wore identical floor length dresses of rose burgandy satin. The empire bodice was designed with a scooped neckline, brief sleeves, and an A-line skirt. Each wore a pill box hat with bouffant veils. Their jewelry included a necklace of pearls which was a present from the bride. They carried bouquets of white carnations. Attending the bridegroom as best man was Buddy Jordan of Hope. Groomsmen were: Larry Rosenbaum of Hope and Ronald Lindsey of Stamps.

Candles were lighted by Miss Mary Roberts of Linden, Texas and Terry Fry of Hope. Ushers included Chad Snyder and Gary Jones of Texarkana.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Alexander chose a suit of mint green with black accessories. She wore white carnations at her shoulder. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale yellow suit with matching accessories. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Earnest Anderson of Maud. The table was covered with a white lace table cloth over pink satin. The centerpiece was a white heart set with a bouquet of pink and white carnation. The four tiered wedding cake, trimmed with pale pink roses, was served by Miss

Phillips Goes to Chicago

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Kill, Bubba, Kill," a football war chant that thundered down from the stands at Michigan State games could become almost as popular in Baltimore as "Maryland, My Maryland."

Charles (Bubba) Smith, a mammoth defensive end and college Lineman of the Year in 1966, was selected Tuesday by the Baltimore Colts as the initial pick of the first combined draft of the National and American football leagues.

Three of Smith's Michigan State teammates also were chosen in the first round — All-America halfback Clint Jones, by Minnesota; All-America line-backer George Webster, by Houston, and flanker Gene Washington, by Minnesota.

In all, 133 players were picked in the first five of 17 rounds. The five rounds took 11 hours and 44 minutes to complete. The draft was to continue today.

But the pros weren't so busy going after college talent Tuesday that they didn't have time to make some trades.

Five deals were made involving such veterans as backs Bill Triplett, Earl Gros, Tommy Mason, Tom Flores and Darryle Lamonia, ends Art Powell, Marlin McKeever, Hal Bedsole, Glenn Bass and Gary Ballman and flanker Bernie Casey.

Two of last year's top college quarterbacks, Florida's Steve Spurrier and Purdue's Bob Griese, halfback Mel Farr of UCLA, defensive end Loyd Phillips of Arkansas and Notre Dame guard Tom Regner also were picked in the first round.

Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winner, was taken by San Francisco. The 49ers selected third, having obtained Atlanta's pick in a trade. Late in the first round they chose Casimir Banaszek, a tight end-linebacker from Northwestern.

Griese was taken fourth by Miami; Phillips, Arkansas's only two-time All-America by Chicago, and Regner, also an All-America, by Houston who had obtained Dallas's pick. Houston took Webster as its own choice.

Farr was selected by Detroit, giving the Lions both 1966 All-America halfbacks. They already have signed Notre Dame's Nick Eddy, whom they drafted as a future in 1965. By agreement of both leagues, there no longer is a future, or redshirt, draft.

New Orleans, the newest NFL franchise, was supposed to pick first but traded the choice (Bubba Smith) to the Colts for Gary Cuozzo. The Saints got their first player — halfback Les Kelley of Alabama — on the 26th and last pick of the first round.

World champion Green Bay was the ninth team to select as a result of a trade with Pittsburgh, and the Packers took defensive guard Bob Hyland of Boston College. On their regular

Harry Jones Drafted by Philadelphia

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Harry Jones, Arkansas' darling wingback who caused sleepless nights for many Razor-back football fans the last two seasons, is closing in on his ambition — one to play professional football.

Jones and teammate Loyd Phillips were drafted in the first round Tuesday as the American and National football leagues gathered in New York for their first combination draft since their recent merger — one many believe may have cost Jones and Phillips a fortune.

A year ago the two leagues were passing out enormous bonus contracts to college football stars. It remains to be seen how much of a cut the current crop will have to take.

Jones was picked by the Philadelphia Eagles and Phillips, who was unavailable for comment, went to the Chicago Bears.

"It gets closer every day and I'm looking forward to it," Jones said Tuesday night.

The Eagles did not keep their No. 1 choice waiting long. Jones said he talked with the president of the club, the personnel director and the head coach shortly after he was drafted.

"No, they didn't say anything about money," he said. Jones said he would go to Philadelphia this weekend "to talk with them some more" and to "look around."

He said he did not expect to talk contract this week, but believes that will come up next week after he has returned to Fayetteville.

"I was kind of prepared for anything because I knew it could be anyone," Jones said of the draft. "I feel fortunate to start with a team that finished fairly high last year. I believe I can play with them."

Jones, a 200-pounder who has run the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, was one of the most feared runners in the Southwest Conference in 1965.

Injuries hampered his performance last season, but opponents still planned defenses designed to stop the speedster from Enid, Okla.

"My shoulder is a lot better and my hip doesn't bother me at all," Jones said. He hurt his hip in 1965 and injured his shoulder against Southern Methodist last November when he caught a pass falling forward.

The shoulder was aggravated a week later when he received a blow on it in the Texas Tech game.

"It just takes time for it to heal," Jones said. Jones said the Philadelphia officials indicated that he would probably start out as a running back, but that they might move him to flanker or split end.

This Woman Might Enter Boxing Ring

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Women have cracked another previously all male job field — and boxing may never be the same.

No, there aren't any women boxers yet. But when it's fight time at the Akron Armory Wednesday night, 22-year-old Rhonda Kay will be the first one in the ring.

She'll be the ring announcer and hopes it's just the beginning of a long association with the sport.

"When you stop to think about it, there are many things people said at one time or another weren't for women. But now women are there," Miss Kay explained.

"Many women think boxing is brutal," the Gremlin-born Miss Kay went on, "and that boxers aren't human. Sure, it's a rough sport but nothing could be further from the truth."

She said she became a boxing fan about a year ago when she started following the career of Akron middleweight Doyle Baird now 10 and 1. He fights the main event Wednesday.

A "teen gossip columnist" for an Akron radio station (WAKR) Miss Kay says the announcing was her own idea — "on the spur of the moment" — when Promoter Don Elbaum brought a boxer to the station for an interview.

"I told Don that if he wanted to get a big crowd at his fights, why not have a woman do the announcing."

"I meant it as a joke," she admits. But Elbaum, who didn't know her, went for the idea, asked if she would be willing to be the first — "and here we are."

Hawks Clinch At Least Tie for Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Hawks have clinched at least a tie for second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association and can wrap up the runner-up spot tonight with the help of the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Hawks gained the tie by whipping the Chicago Bulls on the road Tuesday night 111-98. That gave them a 38-41 record with two games to play compared to 35-43 for the thirdplace Los Angeles Lakers, who have three games left.

The Lakers play host tonight to Philadelphia, already the Eastern Division champs. A defeat for the Lakers would assure St. Louis of second place behind the San Francisco Warriors, the Western Division champs.

Enroute to Los Angeles, the 76ers stopped in San Francisco and walloped the Warriors 139-110 in the only other NBA game scheduled Tuesday.

Hal Greer and Wally Jones combined for 54 points to lead Philadelphia over the Warriors. Greer got 29 and Jones 25. Wilt Chamberlain added 21 points and grabbed 25 rebounds as the 76ers chalked up their 65th victory against the 12 defeats.

Rick Barry, the league's leading scorer, got 23 for the Warriors although he sat out the last quarter since the 76ers were way ahead.

An 11-point burst in the last quarter when they trailed by two points at 76-74 gave the Hawks their victory over Chicago. Bill Bridges and Lou Hudson combined for 31 points as the Hawks pulled away in the final period. Bridges finished with 30 points and Hudson 22, including seven in a row in the Hawks' burst.

Jerry Sloan's 30 points paced the Bulls, who play at Detroit tonight in a game that might decide the last playoff spot in the Western Division. Detroit currently is fourth at 30-47 with Chicago a half game behind at 30-48.

The Eastern Division playoff spots, behind Philadelphia and Boston, also could be determined in two other games scheduled tonight. New York, tied with Cincinnati for third at 36-42, plays at Baltimore while Cincinnati is host to Boston,

Marquette Nips Friars in Tourney

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The ball floated gracefully toward the yawning basket at Madison Square Garden, and an era ended the way it began three years ago — with Jimmy Walker shooting the works.

But Walker's last shot didn't go in, and Providence's superb scorer-playmaker bowed out a loser — while Marquette's Warriors captured another prize in the National Invitation Tournament.

Marquette nipped the Friars 81-80 Tuesday night in a wild overtime finish when Walker's desperate 30-footer caromed off the back rim as the clock ran out. The setback ended Providence's bid for a third NIT title and closed out All-America Walker's fabulous college career.

The Warriors, however, moved into the semifinals of the 30-year-old classic along with Rutgers' surprising Scarlet Knights, who outscored New Mexico 65-60 in the Garden.

In the opener, Rutgers' Bob Lloyd scored 14 of his game-high 23 points in the second half and the Scarlet Knights, now 21-

Illinois' poised Salukis in Thursday night's semis.

"That shot was my first unsuccessful moment in New York," said Walker, whose 36-point effort against Marquette matched his scoring average in seven previous Garden appearances. Walker has earned the MVP award in two straight Holiday Festival tournaments here and recently was named the outstanding visiting collegian to appear in the Garden during the 1966-67 season.

The 6-foot-3 backcourt ace, who scored 37 points in the Friars' first-round NIT victory over Memphis State, finished with a three-year total of 2,045. He leads this season's national scoring parade with a 30.4 average.

Walker, who played the last 16 minutes with four fouls, missed the climactic shot after his basket, another by sophomore Skip Hayes and three Marquette errors dissipated the Warriors' 81-76 lead in the final 52 seconds.

The Warriors lost the ball on a backcourt violation and an errant pass before another violation — on a jump ball — gave Providence the ball with four seconds remaining. Walker took the pass-in at midcourt, broke toward the basket and let fly the one second showing on the clock. The ball hit the rim and the buzzer preserved Marquette's 20th victory in 28 starts. In the opener, Rutgers' Bob Lloyd scored 14 of his game-high 23 points in the second half and the Scarlet Knights, now 21-

6, held the taller Lobos to their low score of the season.

Lloyd teamed with 6-6 Bob Greeson and Little Jim Valvano in a 12-3 burst early in the second half that shot Rutgers in front by 14 points, and the Knights weathered New Mexico's full-court press down the stretch.

Pro Playoff to Start on Schedule

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The playoffs for the professional basketball championship will start as scheduled next week. A threatened strike by players in the National Basketball Association was averted Tuesday by an agreement with Walter Kennedy, president of the NBA.

Kennedy and Larry Fleisher, an attorney for the players' association, announced they had agreed "in principle" to negotiate a better pension plan which was the main change sought by the players.

The present NBA pension provides for approximately $200 a month for 10-year-players at age 65. The players asked a $600 monthly pension while the NBA owners offered an increase to about $500 a month.

the strike, Fleisher said, "Kennedy assured me, on behalf of the Board of Governors in the NBA, that the board is not in disagreement with the players on the principle of their requested pension coverage."

Kennedy further assured him, Fleisher said, "that a plan completely satisfactory to the players will be adopted no later than June 8, 1967. We have scheduled a series of meetings with a committee representing the owners to negotiate the details." The meetings will start Friday.

Everyone was pleased at the outcome of a night-long meeting Monday night-Tuesday morning between Kennedy and Fleisher.

The NBA Board of Governors also agreed to review the form of the players' contract and to eliminate games immediately before and after the All-Star Game as well as increasing payments to participants in the All-Star Game. On their part the players agreed to an 82-game regular season schedule next year, compared to the current 81.

Difficult to Tell Who Is Ahead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's difficult to tell whether the hitters are ahead of the pitchers, or the pitchers are ahead of the hitters at this stage of baseball's spring training session.

But one thing's certain — both are ahead of the fielders.

A total of 30 errors were committed in nine exhibition games Tuesday, with Houston and St. Louis each making six and San Francisco and Detroit each with four.

For the hitters, Tim Cullen of Washington, Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Jackie Warner of the California Angels were outstanding. Cullen and Williams each had a grand slam homer while Warner drove in five runs with a homer, double and single.

For the pitchers, Dean Chance, Jim Perry and Jim Grant took the honors, combining for a two-hit shutout of the New York Mets, 1-0, at Orlando, Fla.

In the other Florida games, Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 12-9 at St. Petersburg, the Chicago White Sox nipped Boston 5-4 at Sarasota, Los Angeles bombed Detroit 8-2 at Lakeland, the New York Yankees beat Atlanta 5-0 at West Palm Beach, Washington stopped Kansas City 8-4 at Pompano Beach, and Philadelphia topped Houston 7-4 at Clearwater.

In Arizona, the Chicago Cubs got by San Francisco 5-4 at Scottsdale and California took Cleveland 7-2 at Tucson.

Williams' grand slam and the four Giant errors, responsible for four unearned run runs, were enough to bring Chicago its third straight victory. Jesus Alou homered for the Giants.

Warner's hitting heroics sparked the Angels to their victory over Cleveland. His three-run homer highlighted a four-run first inning. Willie Smith's pinch homer accounted for both Indian runs.

Cullen's grand slam and a solo shot by Ken Harrelson were all the runs the Senators needed to send the Athletics to their fifth straight loss.

Perry struck out five and walked one in three hitless innings for the Twins against the Mets. Perry allowed an infield single and Grant gave up one hit, also in three hitless stints.

The Yankees scored four runs on only two hits in the fourth inning and sent Atlanta to its first loss of the season. The runs came on a walk to Mickey Manley, a hit batsman, a ground out, a wild pitch, a single by Joe Pepitone and a double by Elston Howard.

The Phillies capitalized on Houston's six errors and walked off with their first victory of the season. Gary Sutherland drove in three Philadelphia runs, including one in a decisive three-run eighth inning.

Errors were a major factor in the Cincinnati victory over St. Louis, with the Reds getting seven unearned runs. Card shortstop Jerry Buchek made three errors, third baseman Mike Shannon two and second baseman Phil Gagliano one.

Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas had four hits, including a homer, and drove in four runs.

Tommy McGraw tripled home the winning run in the ninth, capping a three-run rally for the White Sox against Boston. Tony Conigliaro and Rico Petrocelli had homers for the Red Sox.

Ron Fairly's three-run homer triggered the Dodgers to their decision over Detroit. Bob Bailey had two singles and two stolen bases for the winners.

Rookie Had Best Punt Average

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie David Lee of Baltimore, who averaged 45.6 yards for 49 kicks, was confirmed as the National Football League's 1967 punting champion in official league statistics released today.

Billy Kilgore of Los Angeles was second with a 42.8 average for 71 kicks.

Bobby Walden of Minnesota had the longest punt, 70 yards, against Chicago at Minnesota on Oct. 2, while Bobby Joe Green of Chicago had the most punts, 80.

Gary Collins of Cleveland, the 1965 leader, averaged 39 yards on 57 punts.

Dark Thinks A's Better This Year

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Alvin Dark was talking to a visiting sports writer about the prospects of his Kansas City A's when Ed Hurley broke into the conversation.

"You know what just happened?" said Hurley, the former umpire who doubles as publicity man and road secretary for the A's. "A midget just knocked on the clubhouse door and asked for a tryout."

"If he had showed up last year, we might have suited him up," said Dark.

"There is just no comparison between our club this year and last year at this time," Dark continued. "We didn't even have hope for the season last year."

"Now we have all kinds of confidence. I don't know how high we can finish but I do know that we are not to be messed around with. It all depends on how good the kids think they are."

The A's stumbled around at the start last year, lost 10 of their first 12 games and managed to get nine games out of the race by April 30. They did scramble into sixth place for a few days in August.

Dark proudly count off his five starters as Lew Krausse (14-9), Jim (Cattfish) Hunter, (9-11), Jim Nash (12-1), John (Blue Moon) Odom (5-5) and Chuck Dobson (4-6). All are right-handers.

Paul Lindblad (5-10), a lefty, will be used as a spot starter and in the bullpen behind Jack Aker (8-4) and Wes Stock (2-2). Dobson won't start until the warm weather because of his outpointed Air Force Sgt. Fred 1966 arm troubles.

The manager also is ready to take a long look at Gil Blanco 203, Fresno, stopped L. J. (2-4), Tony Pierce (13-8 at Mobile) and young Rick Johnson (5-0 at Leesburg) among others.

Bill Edgerton (17-4 at Mobile) could crack the staff by a super spring.

The infield is fairly well set with Danny Cater (.278) on first, Dick Green (.250) on second, speedy Bert Campaneris (.267) at short and Ed Charles (.286) at third.

Dark is giving Ramon Webster (.283 at Vancouver) a shot at first, John Donaldson, a second baseman at Vancouver (.298), also is being tried at short.

The outfield is the main weakness of the A's who desperately need more power. Mike Herberger (.253) will play right but the other jobs are up for grabs.

Jim Gosger (.234 at Boston and Kansas City), Ozzie Chavarria (.241) or Joe Nossek (.261 at Kansas City and Minnesota) will play left.

Rick Monday (.267 at Mobile), the $104,000 bonus baby, is getting a shot at center but may need another year in Triple A to curb his strikeouts. If he doesn't make it, Roger Repoz (.232 with the "A's and Yankees) and Nossek probably will platoon in center.

Dark is high on his young catchers but will stick with Phil Roof (.209) as his No. 1 boy. Tim Taiton (.340), a nonroster player, will back up Roof and Rene Lachemann (.256 at Mobile) may make the club.

The catcher of the future is Dave Duncan, who hit 46 homers and drove in 112 runs while batting .271 at Modesto.

Sanders Not Worried Over His Collapse

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders doesn't worry about many things, and the dapper defending champion of the Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament says he definitely isn't going to worry about his collapse in the last two rounds of the Citrus Open.

"I just had a let down, that's all," Sanders said in explaining his disastrous finish at Orlando, where he shot a 73 and 74 after opening with a pair of 66s which had given him a good shot at his second victory of the year.

"I'm not going to worry about that," Sanders said before today's pro-am preliminary to the opening of the $100,000 Jacksonville tournament on the 7,075-yard Deerwood Club course.

"I'm all fired up again and I think I can win on this course," Sanders admitted, however, that he is worried about his putting, normally the best part of his game.

Minnesota Names Coach

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Former Minneapolis Laker star Jim Pollard Monday was named coach of the new Minnesota team in the fledgling American Basketball Association.

Winner of the year, has been complaining about missing little puts although he tied for second at Orlando, and Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus also have had trouble on the greens.

Julius Boros, however, wasn't squawking about his putter. The 47-year-old father of seven won the Citrus Open for his second 1967 triumph which has given him his best start in 17 years as a pro.

"The reason I'm playing better," Boros said "is that 25 and 50-foot puts are dropping in. That makes a lot of difference."

Boros will be trying to become the first player to win three tournaments this year. So will Palmer, winner of the Los Angeles and Tucson championships.

All of golf's top names — with the exception of Billy Casper — are in the tournament, being played for the first time at the Deerwood Club which has a par 72.

Illinois to Appeal Again for Coaches

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois, will meet with Big Ten faculty representatives at the soonest possible date to make a final appeal in the $21,000 athletic slush fund scandal.

University board of trustees Tuesday gave Dr. Henry permission to make his "show cause" appeal in an effort to save the jobs of basketball Coach Harry Combes, football Coach Pete Elliott and basketball assistant Howie Braun.

Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed said in Chicago he was checking schedules and would round up Big Ten faculty representatives as soon as possible for the hearing.

Earlier this month the faculty group upheld a previous decision by conference athletic directors that Illinois fire the three coaches or show cause why the school shouldn't have its membership in the conference suspended or terminated.

Dr. Henry called the Big Ten order "too harsh" and has since been fighting for the coaches who were involved in the slush fund from which certain athletes drew from $15 to $50 a month in illegal aid.

The day after the faulty representatives ordered Illinois to dismiss the coaches, five Illinois athletes were declared permanently ineligible and three others were handed one - year suspensions.

The slush fund was exposed by the university itself last December and the report to the Big Ten was made by Dr. Henry.

Southern S. Wins First NAIA Round

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Southern State of Magnolia, Ark., takes on top-seeded St. Benedict's of Kansas tonight at 7 in the second round of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) basketball tournament.

Southern State, for the second straight year, won its opening round game. The Muleriders tripped Eastern Montana 75-62 Tuesday, posting their 24th victory in 27 games.

St. Benedict's beat Linfield, Ore., 80-75 Monday.

Ouachita Freshman Hits Peak

ARCADEPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Freshman Leroy Thomas of Ouachita Baptist set a school record Tuesday with a 9.4-second clocking in the 100-yard dash.

Thomas nudged Southern State's touted Johnny Seale, who had a 9.6. The Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference record, set only in the conference meet, is 9.7, held by Southern State's George Erriquezzo.

Erriquezzo has the fastest time, 9.3, on record in the AIC, but it was wind-assisted.

Southern State won the meet here Tuesday with 77 points. Henderson was second with 55, and Ouachita next with 43.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Golden Age of Spanish culture lasted an even 100 years, from 1550 to 1650, says The World Almanac. Called in Spanish El Siglo de Oro, the period produced such famous writers as Cervantes, who wrote "Don Quixote," and Lope de Vega who turned out some 700 dramas. Also during this time, El Greco, Murillo and Velasquez painted their masterpieces and the Jesuit priest, Suarez, wrote his widely read books on law and philosophy.

Jim asks, "What do you think is the most common fault of the average bridge player?"

Oswald: "There is no question in my mind. The average bridge player seems to collapse when defending against a high contract. Here is an example from a recent rubber game, in which I sat West."

Jim: "Your partner showed considerable enterprise in the bidding. He would only have been one down at five hearts but his bid worked out even better. He got South to five spades."

Oswald: "I opened the deuce of hearts. East won with the ace and started to think. I was quite happy while he thought. Obviously he held the ace of diamonds and he was trying to decide if he should lead it or underlead it."

Jim: "That should not have been much of a problem in rubber bridge. He should underlead it and do it quickly. In duplicate he might not want to risk giving declarer an overtrick but in rubber bridge you try to set the declarer."

Oswald: "Very true. Unfortunately for my hopes East finished his cerebration and produced the deuce of trumps. This ended proceedings for the defense. South ran off the rest of the tricks."

Jim: "What did you say?"

Oswald: "When I was your age I probably would have jumped all over him. Thirty years later all I did was to write up the score for the lost rubber and cut for the next one."

Word of Caution To Taxpayers

This is income-tax-paying time, and for those who seek professional assistance in filing, District Internal Revenue Director R. L. Phinney has some good advice. He says most tax practitioners are competent and honest. Still, taxpayers will be wise to look out for danger signals:

— Beware of the "expert" who will not be around to answer your questions after the return has been prepared and filed.

— Never sign a blank return and leave it with a stranger.

— Do not sign a tax return, prepared in pencil, since the return can be changed later.

— Avoid the adviser who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles.

— Be on your guard if it is suggested that your refund check be mailed to the practitioner's address.

Any professional who helps you with your tax return should sign the return on the line provided, and you should record his name and address for future reference. Phinney also points out that the taxpayer, not the person who prepares the return, is liable for his own tax liabilities and legal responsibilities. — Houston (Tex.) Chronicle

Time Gap Due To Junk?

First ZIP. Now, index. The U. S. Post Office Department is instituting a program through which, by a here-and-there sampling procedure, it will seek to learn why all classes of mail sometimes mark time at various points. What is learned will be indexed.

We are most sympathetic to the postal service's growing problems with lagging mail. Some on the ground floor of the function say it's a case of too much automation and not enough human hands. We don't profess to have any idea what the answer to speedier delivery is. If giving up our share of junk mail will help, though, this newspaper is willing to do its bit. — Birmingham (Ala.) News

Constitutional Balance

There is no indication that Richard Speck has sacrificed his right to a fair trial because of relaxed restrictions on news coverage in the Peoria court. Judge Herbert Paschen stepped over the boundaries of the First Amendment by the news media.

The Illinois Supreme Court agreed that Judge Paschen had gone too far. Having already backed up a little, he has retreated another step. Perhaps now a balance has been struck between the First Amendment (freedom of press and speech) and the Sixth (right to fair trial).

The irony is that in an overbearing attempt to control trial publicity, Judge Paschen has increased the size of the Speck trial headlines. — Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal

BULLETIN

By FRANK CORMIER
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Johnson pledged anew today that "we shall stay the course" in Vietnam and he expressed confidence that most Americans support "this fundamental decision."

Johnson, making his first public talking tour of the year, was spending the day in Tennessee and, in an address prepared for a joint session of the legislature, reviewed again the administration's position on Vietnam.

His address contained little or nothing that had not been said before. However, he made a point-by-point defense of the nation's policy toward Vietnam and concluded with yet another statement that the United States is ready to talk peace.

Howard Hughes Buys Desert Inn

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Multimillionaire industrialist Howard Hughes is the new owner of the Desert Inn Hotel on the Las Vegas strip, informed sources say.

Hughes, who shuns publicity, hasn't appeared in public for more than 10 years. However, sources say he has been living in the Desert Inn's penthouse since last December. His wife, actress Jean Peters, is with him.

Easter Sunrise Service

Hope Ministerial Alliance made final plans for the Sunrise Easter Service, according to Rev. Johnnie A. Beasley, President of the Alliance.

The Service will be held at the Hammond Stadium Easter Sunday morning at 6:30, if the weather permits. Mr. Beasley will preside. Rev. Jerald Schleiff will bring the Easter message. Laymen from various churches will take part in the Service.

Ray Turner is Chairman of the Arrangements Committee with Roy Anderson on Honorary Chairman. LaGrone Williams will be head usher and he will be assisted by laymen from the different churches.

Several musical numbers will be presented as features of the Service.

Special recognition will be given to Roy Anderson who was instrumental in starting the Sunrise Services in 1937 and has manifested his interest throughout the intervening years.

No Bargains in Labor Negotiations

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging from the early assortment of offerings dropped on the labor-management negotiating tables, nobody is going to walk away with any bargains this year. Everything will carry a price.

What is now taking shape is a year of difficulties, changes, tests, opportunities — perhaps even legislation — in the relations between workers and their employers.

Among the powerful undercurrents to any discussions this year — and more major labor agreements expire than in any recent year — are these:

— A growing understanding among workers and employers that equality of opportunity for those once discriminated against is not just an idealistic goal but an enforceable law.

— A restlessness among workers with the traditional goal of negotiations, the pay and fringe benefit package. If only for the purpose of getting acquainted with them, new proposals will be introduced this year — a guaranteed annual

Americans Over $1.5 Trillion in Debt and Going Deeper, Deeper

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Savor for a moment the figure $1,529,700,000,000.

That's trillion, not billion, and the Treasury Department says it represents total outstanding debt—federal, individual, state, local and corporate—as of last Dec. 31. The total increased $99.1 billion in one year.

The department says there is even more to come, at least as far as the federal government is concerned.

In testimony made public Tuesday night by the House Appropriations Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said the government will continue to run deficits at least until the end of the Vietnam war. That means higher debt.

Although the national debt is now slightly above $330 billion, the department plans to ask Congress in May to raise the debt ceiling again, possibly as high as $346 billion. It now is $336 billion.

The debt is scheduled to reach $335.4 billion by June 30, 1968, but it is expected to go temporarily higher before then.

Asked by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., if the administration will ever recommend a balanced budget, Fowler replied: "I do, Mr. Chairman, believe that there will be administrations that will recommend balanced budgets."

"Indeed, I would be so bold as to say that I believe there will be administrations that will rec-

Moonshine Discussed

E. C. BISHOP

E. C. Bishop of Texarkana, representing the Federal Alcohol Beverage Control Board, was guest speaker before Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday and presented a 22-minute colored movie in connection with the government's never-ending fight to eradicate illicit liquor.

Mr. Bishop pointed out that 18 federal officers are presently assigned to Arkansas, one of eight states in the Southwestern district. Oklahoma ranks first in "moonshine" operations, but Arkansas is a close second, with Texas coming in third, the speaker pointed out.

Guests of the club included Judge Finis Odom, Attorney Larry Patterson, State Patrolman Ward, and Pete Peterson of Little Rock.

Call for Business Tax Incentives Brings Wide Open Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call for restoration of business tax incentives has ignited a wide-open dispute in the House Ways and Means Committee, with the state of the economy and Johnson's proposed income tax boost at issue.

The committee, trying to prepare the legislation for House passage by week's end, scheduled another working session today.

Still unresolved were differing opinions on whether the administration sought the action because it fears a recession and whether enactment of the measure — estimate to slice business taxes some $1.2 billion over a three-year span — would doom the proposed 6 per cent surtax on income tax.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler clashed sharply Tuesday with some committee members of both parties on these issues.

At one point in the heated hearing he offered to swear on a Bible that the administration was not acting out of fear of recession in seeking restoration of the 7 per cent tax credit for business equipment spending and of speeded depreciation rules.

The special circumstances that led late last year to suspension of these incentives, he said, have been corrected.

But Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., told Fowler that "any hope you may have for a general tax increase is now dead." Johnson has proposed a tax surcharge effective July 1.

But Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., told Fowler that "any hope you may have for a general tax increase is now dead." Johnson has proposed a tax surcharge effective July 1.

The committee, trying to prepare the legislation for House passage by week's end, scheduled another working session today.

Still unresolved were differing opinions on whether the administration sought the action because it fears a recession and whether enactment of the measure — estimate to slice business taxes some $1.2 billion over a three-year span — would doom the proposed 6 per cent surtax on income tax.

Powell Still Plans Trip to New York

By GEORGE ESPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was reported today still planning to return to New York from the Bahamas Sunday despite a court's refusal to consider an appeal from his criminal contempt citation which makes him subject to arrest in the state.

Powell's attorney, Henry R. Williams, said, "I'm sure he (the sheriff) knows that if he makes an arrest on Sunday, he will have violated the law."

"Under state law," said Williams, "all Sabbath-day arrests are prohibited except in misdemeanors or felonies. This is a civil offense. The judge who issued the arrest order (last November) made a mistake."

Williams said that if Powell is arrested, he would move immediately to file a writ of habeas corpus to free him.

But H. Williams Kehl, an attorney in the sheriff's office, after Ferrie died of what the coroner termed natural causes and Garrison maintained was suicide, Russo told a newsman from New Orleans television station WDSU that Ferrie never mentioned Oswald's name to him, adding, "I had never heard of Oswald until on television."

— Russo gave detail in court of the meeting in Ferrie's apartment, saying the plot involved sacrificing one man to allow the others to make a getaway, a possible flight to Cuba, diversionary shooting and "triangulation of crossfire."

Yet in an interview earlier with a Baton Rouge television station, Russo explained he never came forth with his information before because, "I left it to professionals...when they came out with Oswald, was the man. Then I forgot it."

Witness Claims He Heard Pair Plot to Kill Mr. Kennedy

By JOHN S. LANG

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) —

Perry Raymond Russo, who testified he heard Lee Harvey Oswald and two others plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, faces cross-examination today by defense lawyers.

Counsel for Clay L. Shaw, the wealthy businessman arrested by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison on a charge of conspiring with Oswald and David W. Ferrie to murder Kennedy, put off their questions Tuesday until they could study scholastic and business records of Russo.

Before court reopened, mystery surrounding this "confidential informant" thickened.

The Riddle: — Russo, 25, an insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, told the court he was in the apartment of David W. Ferrie here in September 1963 and listened to the three men conspire to kill the president and escape.

But two weeks ago, shortly after Ferrie died of what the coroner termed natural causes and Garrison maintained was suicide, Russo told a newsman from New Orleans television station WDSU that Ferrie never mentioned Oswald's name to him, adding, "I had never heard of Oswald until on television."

One large bag which not only promises to be around for a long time to come but is actually gaining in popularity each year, is the tote bag. Its most compatible advocate is the woman who wishes to carry with her an extra pair of shoes and other necessary paraphernalia... but want to tote it in something more prosaic than a shopping bag. This season's crop of tote bags are styled in canvas and leather.

SILKY SKIN TO MATCH SLEEK KNITS

If you're fashion wise, you'll greet Spring 1967 in a sleek knit. Knit dresses and separates have been updated to flatter every silhouette. They come in silks and synthetics, wools and cottons. They range in style from pastel pullover-and-skirt combinations to imaginative, multicolored sheaths. But to be at its beautiful best a smooth knit makes one demand: smooth skin. And winter, whose twin villains are steam heat and blustery wind, has left most skins parched, red and rough. Even the heaviest layer of paint and powder can't hide a complexion that suffers from wintery dryness. Before donning the smooth new knits, you must soothe your skin and restore its natural moisture.

This spring, an old friend, petroleum jelly, with a new look, can help repair winter's ravages. Reliable "Vaseline," now in a flower-trimmed beauty jar, is a new beauty technique, aimed at soothing and smoothing your skin.

Here's the easy routine: Each night, while you're preparing for bed, dip out a teaspoonful of the petroleum jelly. Warm it in an egg poacher, or rest the teaspoon atop a bowl of very hot water. Warm up a towel, too.

While the petroleum jelly and towel are heating, remove your makeup as usual, cleansing with cream or lotion or a gentle complexion soap. Don't use astringent; the alcohol it contains is far too drying for your moisture-starved skin.

Now, with the tips of your fingers, dab the comfortably warm petroleum jelly over your cheeks, chin, forehead and neck. Smooth it in, using light upward strokes. Be particularly careful to coat your eyelids, the delicate under-eye areas and the sides of your mouth, where dryness causes tiny lines to form.

Bury your face in a warm towel and relax. Ten to fifteen minutes will do the moisturizing trick, and you can soak away tension in a scented tub in the meantime.

Then, remove the towel and tissue off any excess petroleum jelly. Just enough lubricant will remain to protect the skin from moisture loss.

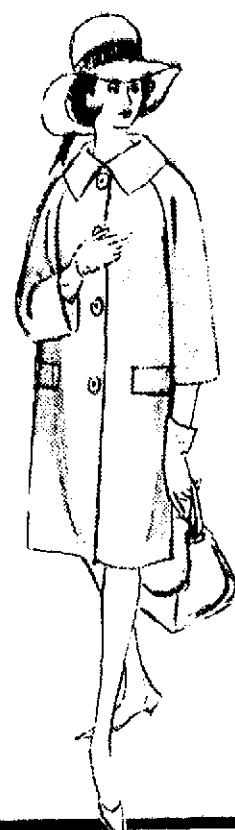

The results? Your complexion will be delightfully soft, lavishly moist and — fashion-importantly — knit-worthy.

Patterns and Stripes are made in newer multi-combinations and tones... Patterns are racy, grainy... Stripes are fluffy and dimensional.

Two-faced fabrics have gained in popularity. Further interest can be found in Home-spuns, which are spongy, dry and crinkly... Gabardines, Cords, Tweeds.

New Spring Jewelry Leads a Double Life

Just as Spring's clothing fashion leads a double life—swinging by day, sweet by night—so does Spring's fashion jewelry. The "Fake Look" has a special effect flair—bold, bulky and very colorful—for a dash of drama. The "Real Look," on the other hand, is a style statement of ladylike allure, a modest answer to Mod. Both are musts for Spring's fashionable femme.

The big and bold in jewelry is making a tremendous fashion splash. Magnificent ropes and chains of multi-colored stones and beads, huge bangles and bracelets, and long, dramatic earrings go way out to be way "in." Oriental arm bands and slave and spiral bracelets are bright and beautiful for an exotic Spring.

Gold-colored pieces of huge geometric patterns and shapes, and "pop" plastic are colorful and ultra-contemporary for Spring.

In necklaces there is a greater variety than ever. Ranging from chokers to long, long strands, from delicate chains to multi-stranded ropes, from heirloom-type pendants to heavy "pendulums," necklaces are giving a real fashion fling.

Bracelets too make the scene with multi-colored charms, gold-colored filigreed ornaments, and chunky, shaped stones. Favorite bracelet color combinations are gold and platinum—very rich!—and black and white, whether jet and crystal or black and white enamel.

Pins move up front with stunning style innovations. Enamel pins combined with gold in unusual motifs are rising in popularity, as are antique and heirloom designs. Whether textured, bejeweled, intricate or bulky, pins add a major dash of drama to the season's fashion.

And earrings have gone to dramatic lengths for Spring, with designs, colors and shapes styled to delight. More and more designs are available in pierced earrings as their popularity seems to know no bounds. Rings too turn a round into a rage with new big, bold and beautiful designs.

For the "Real Look" bracelets, necklaces and pins make impressive imitations of precious jewelry. Tailored gold jewelry remains a fashionable frontrunner. Sprinkled lightly with colored stones to provide either harmony or contrast, gold colored jewelry is ideal for Spring elegance. And this year silver debuts into dramatic glamour; for the first time sterling silver jewelry enters the realm of exquisite evening-wear. Spotlighting beautiful and intricate designs in pins, bracelets and necklaces, silver jewelry takes the stage this year.

AMONG THE NEW, WHAT'S GOOD FOR YOU?

From the Stone Age to the Jet Age, fashions in skin care change with the times. Long-gone are the days when bath salts, rice powder and rouge were considered risqué. Gone, too, are sticky, greasy creams and vigorous soap-and-water scrubbing in order to get clean.

Just two hundred years ago, it took Queen Marie Antoinette five hours to complete her beauty toilette. Then came the Revolution. There has been a revolution in skin care, too! Are you With It?

Modern science teamed up with cosmetics experts to develop new products that make the most of your skin. Here's a fashion checklist developed by Pacquin, specialists in skin care. Which type are you?

Understatedly Elegant? If you're the chic, assured fashion type who selects clothes of utter simplicity, classic cut and rich fabrics, chances are your perfect grooming is reflected in the look of your hands. Beautifully kept hands need constant care, as you know. Now, an excellent aid gives nails the look of a professional manicure in half the time. The crystal clear cuticle remover rinses away cuticle without cutting; bleaches away stains under nail tips, too. In a pretty leakproof plastic tube, it's ideal for travel. Another perfect packable is an extra-dry skin cream in a tube, which is lanolin-enriched to soften, smooth and moisturize hands.

Small but Fascinating?

Petite types look prettiest in mini-skirt styles, since shorter hemlines are in proportion to their height. If you're what one fashion expert terms a "teeny weeny bopper," or even if you'd like to be, you know that the total effect has got to be right, from head to toe. Shining, straight hair, a peaches-and-cream complexion, artful make-up and the prettiest possible legs all contribute to the fashion look. Perfect for cleansing and eye make-up remover... is a new Rinse Off Cold Cream that takes off make-up completely with warm water and a wash-cloth. It has no greasy cold cream smell, no soap-and-water dryness. Instead, it leaves skin spotlessly clean and soft. Try it on hands, knees and elbows, too, or as an enriching make-up base.

Long, Lean and Lithe?

If you're the long-stemmed type of American beauty, you look sensational in tights, lacy stockings, bare-to-the-sheaths, bold patterns and vivid colors. Perhaps your one fashion problem is lankiness instead of leanness. If so, exercise faithfully to shape up arms and legs, and avoid any fashions that give you a bony look. You'll want to pay special attention to skin care, too, so that arms and legs look soft and well-groomed. Try the trick of sanitizing your skin each day with an application of fragrant Silk'n Satin Lotion, a hand and body beautifier that absorbs speedily without stickiness. At bedtime, add a capful of the companion Bath Oil to warm water as a protection against skin dryness and flaking.

Sleek and Silky

Polished and clingy or pow and swingy—that's spring '67. The greatest fashion going, and the one that will get the most mileage, is the sleek, silky-looking acetate knit. Tops and shifts, miniskirts, pants and even matching caps for the mod in you will be available in your favorite shops.

The Fashion Story is Short, Snappy

Short, short, short is the word for spring! From coif to culotte the cue is crop. Every woman will agree, skirts (mini or short) are as much a snare as a lure. Eye-catcher or not, there is nothing quite so unattractive as a woman with too much of her leg (or any of her underwear!) showing.

According to Edie Raymond Locke, Fashion Editor of Mademoiselle magazine, one solution to the too-much-leg problem are tights and panty legs—either sheer or opaque. They should be in color harmony with either shoe or skirt to provide continuity. "Too many colors create a chopped up effect," Mrs. Locke warned. "Tights that match shoes or skirts help make the 'total' look."

The '67 skirt shapes are designed for short-stop hemlines. They're fuller and more fluid-pleated, flared, flipped. Or they're culottes—the newest/nowest look for spring. Mrs. Locke adds, "With all short skirts, regardless of shape, wear chunky low-heeled shoes. Besides being more comfortable, low heels keep the prob-

Ahoy! It's Waves Ahead for Hair

Hair is curving again for spring—straight geometrics is marching out, the wave to prettiness is rolling in.

Leading hair styling designers are riding this wave enthusiastically. "There will be movement in the shape," they predict. "Hair will have more wave, hair will have more luxury. Long hair came in because men like it—now it must be more feminine, not so stringy."

Stylists point out they don't recommend over-curling hair... just a feminine wave that moves softly. "Women will cut their falls to a more practical length, just below the chinline—and will finish the ends with soft unformed curls."

"And girls won't get away with pulling their hair back and tying it with a ribbon," the stylist says.

Models will have to start sleeping on rollers again—they just can't pull out 50 hair pieces and slap them on. Customers still want exciting romantic hairdos at night—the long curls that fall to the side.

"I am against torturing the hair with over-teasing... I am against one style for all women. The coiffure should always be adapted to the wearer. Hair should say something—it's the crowning glory and if it's cut too short there is no crown."

Says the salon expert: Customers will be more individual and go by what the boyfriend likes... and they like a feminine romantic look.

Unique Ability

Pigeons and their relatives in the sandgrouse family of the Old World share the unique ability to drink water like a horse, with heads down and bill immersed; other birds must raise their heads to swallow.

portion between body and legs balanced."

"The Clip"—the hair for '67 has arrived! It is the IN look, the companion beauty for mini or flip. The beauty go-ahead that knocks the stops right out from under tumbling tresses, are big eyes and good bones. There is no reason to fear a loss of the swinging, romantic image since a hair-cut no longer means a total commitment or a piggy-bank bust.

Wigs, falls and wiglets are for everyone. Dynel which used to shine as bright as a diamond is toned down to the lovely lustre of a pearl. Colors can be blended so well that this man-made fiber is a human-hair duplicate. For a not-so-new, shiny look, give it a quick onceover with plain talcum powder, and wonder at its new beauty. Interested in real hair on the cheap—try the new Orientals. Their beauty bonuses include: built-in body and beautiful blending from many batches of hair.

On rainy New York Sundays, cyclists are dazzling the foot-bound spectators with wild-striped, polka-dotted vinyls, in combinations with bright rain-boots.

Central Park also has its fashion eccentrics. One socialite frequently enters the Park on a tandem bicycle pedaled by her chauffeur in complete uniform, while she sits perched atop the rear seat in a full-length chinchilla. It will not, however, set a new trend.

Bags Carry Spring Message

Although the spring silhouette favors the small bag, it has not completely erased the large bag from the fashion scene.

A casual import that's certain to appeal to many is a pouchy little shoulder bag from Florence made of wooden beads.

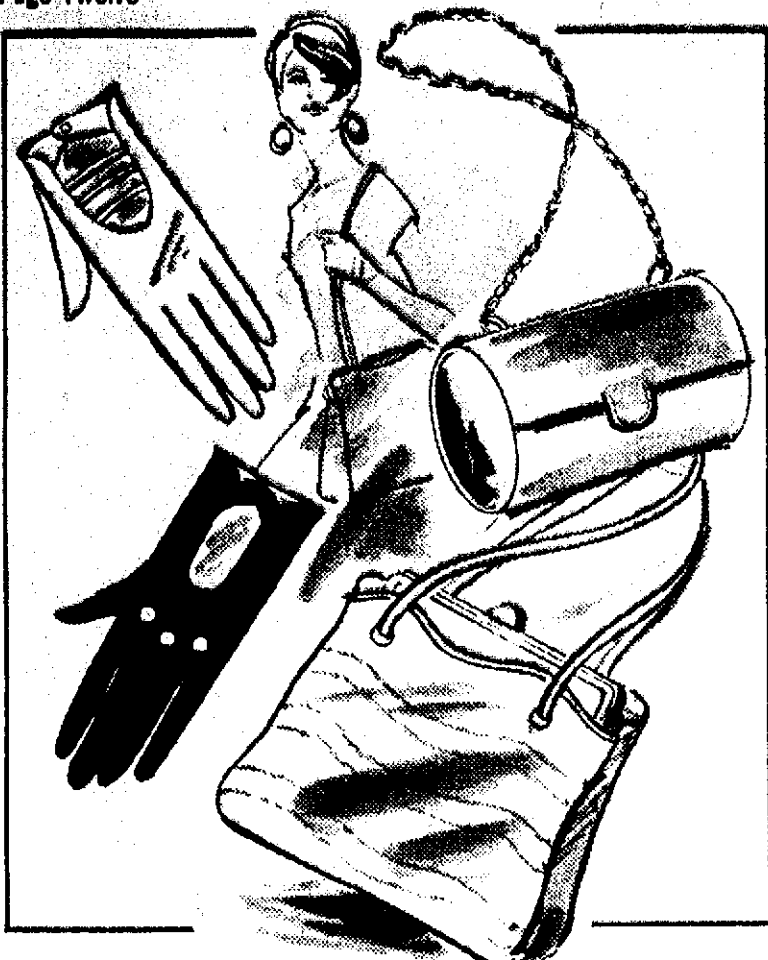

Florence also continues to contribute the versatile straw bag to the feminine picture. As in the past, it is seen predominantly in its natural state.

And for practicality, there is gray patent, a neutral that can be worn with most everything.

Your Personal Poisons

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Babies are the most piteous among the millions that find themselves in the clutches of our modern tormenter, the allergy.

While babies usually are born only with sensitivities for allergies, days after birth allergies can begin to bloom.

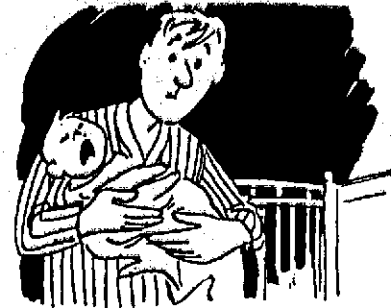

One of the infant's first hurdles is the mother's milk, which may not agree with him. Ready or not, from then on the baby is plunged into the maelstrom of this world, faced with making a personal chemical peace with every object in his home and then later the world outside. Eczema brings an early trial for a good many babies. It is thought to be a sign that there is a lack of tolerance for something in the baby's new world, a propensity passed on by parent, grandparent or another member of the family who has preceded him.

The rash usually appears on the face, neck, in the folds of the elbow or behind the knees.

Eczema conditions should have medical attention. The child will not "grow out of it" in the sense that it will disappear and never recur.

From the widest view, it can be beneficial, in that it hints of other allergic adventures to come in the baby's life, perhaps hay fever or asthma, and this warning can bring to the rescue medical treatments which will allow him to escape that fate.

Eczema CAN disappear by the age of two. Otherwise, it can become chronic, marring the face or body of a youngster and, at the same time, bringing the possibility of creating grave psychological effects.

Food sensitivities light the fuse for most allergic babies' wretchedness. Digestive upsets and colic of any duration, breathing difficulties or skin eruptions are the symptoms.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that babies do not GROW OUT of any of the allergies which may beset them. Self-diagnosis, self-treatment or neglect present the most dangerous possibilities for such conditions. The knowledge is wide and growing, the allergist's skill is great, the weapons at hand multiply each day. The time to act is when the baby is young. Get help!

bulb care for continuing bloom

The first rule for maintaining tulip, daffodil, hyacinth and other Spring flowering bulbs is never to cut off the leaves until they have dried and yellowed. Food is received through the leaves to rebuild the bulbs for new blossoms; therefore, if the leaves are cut, there can be no bulbs or blooms the next year.

Flower blossoms which draw food from the bulbs may be cut off as soon as the petals begin to fade. Petals should not be permitted to fall and remain on the ground because they might cause the soil to become diseased. To supply extra food for bulbs, cover the ground with a plant food, such as bonemeal, as soon as shoots start coming up in the Spring.

Drain canned small white onions and heat in a skillet with a little brown sugar, butter and water until the onions are nicely glazed. Good to serve with pork chops.

Dodd Offers to Refund Money Used

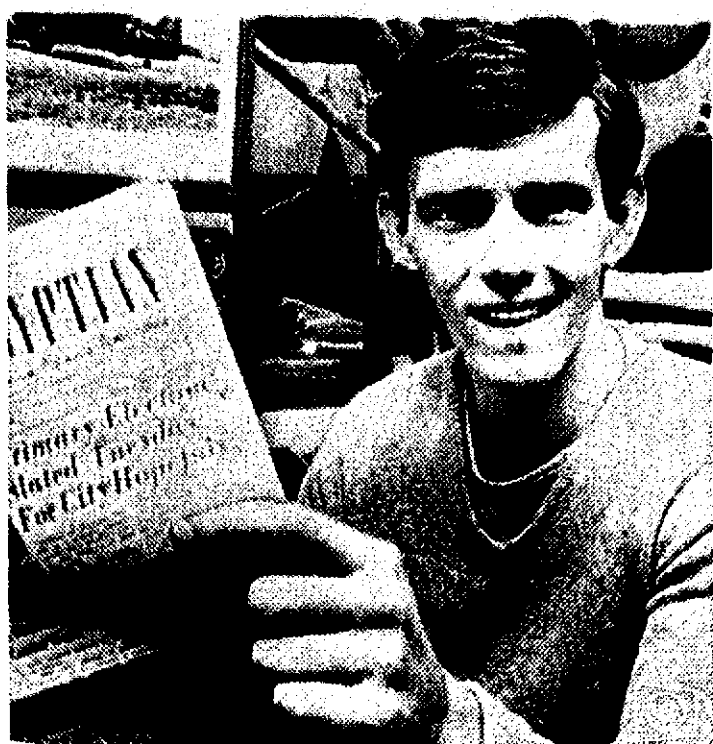

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says he has had no takers on his offer of cash refunds to persons who may have bought tickets to testimonials for him under the impression the money would be used only for his campaign expenses.

That was the Connecticut Democrat's reply to a reporter's question as the Senate ethics committee indicated it is nearing the end of its presentation of evidence in the investigation of Dodd's financial affairs.

Benjamin R. Fern, the bipartisan committee's chief counsel, said as of now he plans to call only three more witnesses.

Two, Terry Golden and Michael V. O'Hare, are former employees of Dodd. The third, Edward Lockett, was hired to ghostwrite for the senator a book about subversion.

The committee heard six witnesses Tuesday, including political allies of the senator who testified that funds they helped raise for him at dinners, receptions and other events were for

WHEN SONNY DIDN'T WRITE often enough to suit his mother, Mrs. Jack Buchanan placed an ad in the student newspaper at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Surprised student Jack D. Buchanan immediately called her after spying the ad, which read, "Sweet old lady wishes to correspond with Southern Illinois student. Prefer male resident in small group housing... six-footer with brown eyes answering to the initials JDB. Signed: 'Mother.'"

Dodd to use as he saw fit.

They said this was the case despite a resolution and letters linking the fund-raising to political campaign activities.

The principal speakers at the events staged in Dodd's behalf were President Johnson—then the vice president—and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Dodd told the Senate last week that not a single donor to any of these functions "has ever contended that they thought they were contributing to my campaign" for re-election in 1964.

He offered to return the money of anyone who advised him they felt they had been misled, but he said in an interview no one has asked him for a refund.

The calling of O'Hare, Dodd's former office manager, indicated the committee was going to take up allegations that the senator was reimbursed both by the Senate and private organizations for a number of trips.

Dodd has acknowledged seven instances of double billing, but he put the blame on O'Hare, whom he called "probably one of the most inefficient and sloppy bookkeepers who ever lived."

O'Hare, who testified at the committee's hearings last summer on Dodd's relations with public relations man Julius Klein, admitted he took part in removing documents from the senator's office and turning

Kennedy Denies Fuss With LBJ

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Denials by the White House and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of a cuss-word confrontation on Vietnam between President Johnson and the senator Feb. 6 have heightened their hostility.

Each camp privately was accusing members of the other today of leaking distorted information that made both the President and the New York Democrat look bad.

Some of the President's associates were ready to blame the senator's men for the version of the encounter that Time magazine pieced together.

The senator's associates noted that three of the four persons present at the White House session — after Kennedy returned from a European tour during which there was much talk that he was bringing home a peace feeler — were administration officials.

The four were the President, Kennedy, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach — a former Kennedy associate — and presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow.

Rostow and Kennedy denied separately that the tone and the particulars of the meeting depicted by Time were accurate.

Time said Johnson castigated Kennedy for his criticism of the President's Vietnam policies. It said Johnson told the senator, "If you keep talking like this, you won't have a political future in this country within six months. In six months, all you doves will be destroyed."

Time said Kennedy replied by calling Johnson an s.o.b., adding, "I don't have to sit here and take that —"

Kennedy backed up White House press secretary George Christian's denial that Johnson told Kennedy he never wanted to see him again.

In an interview Tuesday, Kennedy gave these answers to questions:

Q. Did either you or the President use any swear words?

A. No.

Q. Did he accuse you of upsetting peace negotiations because of reports you were bringing home a peace feeler?

A. No.

Q. Did he say he never wanted to talk to you again?

A. No.

Q. Did he say you didn't have a political future because of the stand you have taken?

A. I don't want to talk about that.

Q. Did he say you would have the blood of American boys on your hands if secret peace negotiations were upset?

A. Not in that context, but I don't want to talk about that.

Johnson in Praise of Jackson

By FRANCES LEWINE
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Johnson, marking the 200th birthday of Andrew Jackson in an area where states rights often has been a political issue, lauded Jackson today for believing "the national government represented the people, not the states."

In an address prepared for delivery at Jackson's home — the Hermitage — Johnson said this belief of the seventh president "triumphed in his time."

But he said "the torch of union" which Jackson lit sputtered under later presidents. Otherwise, he said, "we might well have avoided the holocaust of Civil War."

Johnson, making an early morning flight here from Washington, scheduled three formal speeches in Tennessee — his first outside Washington since his Asian tour last fall.

Some regional leaders of the Democratic party have been urging the chief executive to undertake more speech-making trips around the country.

In Tennessee, the President joined his touring wife to appear at the Hermitage, address a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature on Vietnam and help dedicate a new community college at Columbia, 50 miles from Nashville.

In his Hermitage text, Johnson said that Jackson "began an era of competitive political activity, based on the ideal of the citizen as a full participant in the life of the community."

This task remains unfinished, he said.

"We are still attempting to eliminate all the discriminatory barriers that deny any citizen a part in the process of government," he said. "We are still striving to involve poor, the deprived, the forgotten American, white and Negro, in the future of their society."

Johnson said Jackson looked on the federal government as "the supreme political body in the nation" rather than a league of states.

He noted that Jackson habitually would say "the United States is" at a time when many were saying "the United States are."

Mrs. Johnson said she wasn't surprised her husband joined her for the third and final day of an educational tour that has taken her to Appalachia regions of West Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

It's not the first time the President has done it.

During the 1964 campaign, Johnson turned up on his wife's tour at Raleigh, N.C., and at the New Orleans finale of her whistle-stop train trip through the South. He also made a last-minute decision to join her on a Mexico City visit last April.

The President was invited by his long-time friend — and his wife's host — Democratic Gov. Buford Ellington, to address a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature at noon today.

Johnson quickly accepted, and it will be the first time in 100 years — if ever — that a president has made such an appearance in this Southern capital.

It also is the first time in 25 years — since Eleanor Roosevelt — that a First Lady has been in these parts.

Johnson has scheduled a military strategy meeting with top advisors in Guam this weekend, and it was presumed his speech before the legislature would be on Vietnam.

The President said he also would join in all of his wife's activities for the day in Nashville.

Discord within the labor movement, specifically between the United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO.

The still-inflated costs of the simple needs for survival: food, clothing and shelter. In-

A tendency among some union members to reject labor much agreements proposed by their

An economy that declines to give any broad hints of its next directions: expansion or contraction. This permits management to be dour, labor hopeful. It depends on which signals you respond to.

skilled than among skilled and whites.

The problem of cutbacks, layoffs, plant shutdowns in certain industries that might experience a slowing of growth this year or which might have to work off excess inventories.

These are some of the factors involved in this year's negotiations for 3.1 million workers whose contracts expire. Strikes could result. And strikes might lead to pressure for legislation to handle them in the public interest.

A MAN WHO CAME BACK

Dear Helen: I read "FIGHTER'S" letter relative to cancer and want to say, "More power to you!" Let me tell you my experience. I was admitted to the practice of law in New York State in 1926, and was quite successful. In December 1961, I flew to Philadelphia with friends to attend the Army-Navy game. I drank, smoked and cheered too much—I was a three-pack-a-day smoker.) Next day I was hoarse. When the hoarseness continued for two weeks, I consulted my doctor, and, after many weeks of testing, he told me I had an active cancer in the larynx. To cure it, my vocal cords must be removed, and with them would go my voice. Forever afterwards I would breathe through a hole (stoma) in my neck. And I was a LAWYER!

I was operated on the day after my 58th birthday and awakened completely mute. I could not speak, laugh, cry, snore or make any sound whatsoever. After convalescence, I learned of the Speech Rehabilitation Center in New York City, where esophageal speech is taught. There are such centers in many cities; they can be located through the American Cancer Society. I attended the center five or six hours a day for three months.

By that time I could make sounds and was on my way to speech again. By the end of the year, I could speak, not clearly or well, but I could make myself understood.

I didn't miss a day at the office. Today, five years later, I speak fluently, although I sound like a fog horn with a cold. So what? The point is, most people think there is nothing wrong with me except laryngitis.

Again, I agree with FIGHTER. Only the very stupid refuse to acknowledge cancer. I am alive today only because I did.

Any laryngectomee can learn to speak. It isn't easy but it's possible. Best of all, if the victim has no money, the American Cancer Society will arrange FREE lessons.

Helen, I am no do-gooder. I detest the type. When I was speechless and in the depth of despair, however, I did resolve to seek every way I could to help cancer patients. Hence this letter.

Won't you please ask ALL your readers to write to their local chapter of the Cancer Society and request that a copy of "Cancer's Seven Danger Signals" be mailed to them? It tells how to recognize the symptoms and how cancer can be cured. It's free no one will ever call on you and you won't be asked for contributions.—G. G.

Dear G. G. Thank you for your inspiring letter. It may save a life!—H.

Dear Helen: How can I stop a young friend from doing something she may bitterly regret? She is a good girl, but she has fallen in love with a married man and insists she will live with him. He is a Vietnam veteran, came home to find his wife no longer cared for him. He is a very serious person, inclined to moods of depression. There is a child. Therefore no divorce is planned.

Until her early teen years, my friend lived with parents who treated her with such brutality that she was finally taken under protective custody and put in foster homes. She vows she will never have children. She is highly intelligent, has a good job and everything points to straight up in her career.

These two are sure they love each other, but marriage is out of the question. I want to like him, but he represents danger to a dear friend.

Am I overly fearful of something they consider quite sane? Perhaps I'm just an OLD GOOSE IN A NEW WORLD. Dear "Goose":

You SHOULD be fearful, for these two will be hurt. Neither is a whole person emotionally—healed. Perhaps they're looking to each other for healing strength which may not be there. Certainly they won't find it in an affair that has no chance for a future, one that damages others as well as themselves.

But they'll find this out on their own. I doubt you can stop them.

Good advice is hardly ever recognized as such until it's too late to do any good.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1967, Inc.

Mainland Success Lures Hawaiian

By DICK KLEINER

Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

Don Ho is the latest excitement in show business—a tremendous hit in night clubs, a big seller on records, movie offers, television offers, the works—but if there had been a future book on big stars Don Ho would have been 1,000-to-1 to make it.

He's a singer, but just barely. He has a rich quality to his voice but his style is like a tired Dean Martin. He more or less flirts with the notes and most of the time doesn't quite make contact with the right key.

He's a solid hit with the ladies but you wouldn't believe it if you met him. He isn't young any more and he admits he has six children. He's stocky and certainly not handsome and his hair has been permanently kicked around by the Hawaiian trade winds. He looks, basically, like an animated coconut.

But something comes across when he sings, especially in person. He has that rare, quicksilver quality of likability. He smiles and the world lights up. He laughs and your cares are gone. He sings and you don't think how badly you just want to join in and sing along and you wind up having a great time.

It wasn't until Don Ho was 29, with a college degree and a five-year hitch as an Air Force pilot behind him, that he even thought of entertaining. That makes it all even more remarkable.

Ho is a Hawaiian and you could say he's a typical Hawaiian because, ethnically, he's a grab-bag of genes. His father is Chinese-Hawaiian. His mother is Portuguese-German-Dutch-Hawaiian. They ran a bar in Kaneohe on Oahu called Honey's. It was more than a bar, though—general store, restaurant, filling station.

As a boy, during World War II, Don and his six brothers and sisters had to help out, pumping gas, cleaning glasses, arranging the ti leaves for the food called laulau. The place was jumping with GIs and his sisters and his aunts were very popular girls.

He grew up, got his degree in sociology from the University of Hawaii, put in five years in service, and then went back home to Kaneohe. The place wasn't jumping any more. Business, actually, was bad. Don "began" kidding around with music. "Started singing and playing the ukulele and the few customers joined in.

He bought an organ and, in the quiet mornings, taught himself to play it. More people came in. More songs and laughter and money. He went to Waikiki, rented an unprofitable bar for $700 and "his people" followed him there and more joined the crowds.

Pretty soon he was the idol of the islands. Today, Don owns several clubs, makes big money, and is probably Hawaii's favorite son.

"I could be very happy just

staying in Hawaii," Don says. "But I want to see if I can do on a big scale what is so successful in Hawaii. This is a challenge, man, a challenge. I'm a big booster for Hawaii. Nobody from Hawaii

Wednesday, March 15, 1967 has ever made it big in show business. And I'm one of the people, man. I'm a little brown man from Hawaii, and I want to see if I can make it. "I'm one of the people. I'm not a big man, I'm just somebody the people like—the cops, the beach bums, the governor, they all like me. I want to do something for them, man."

Can Don Ho make it big on the mainland? So far, he seems to be doing just that. If he does, it will be a triumph of personality, not talent.

Inflammation of Eyelids Is Usually an Allergy

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have an inflammation of my eyelids that feels as though I had sand in my eyes. I have been using yellow oxide of mercury ointment. Is it all right to use it every night?

A—If your conjunctivitis is due to an infection the ointment you are using should clear it up in seven to 10 days. If it doesn't, the true cause should be determined. This may be a habit of rubbing your eyes, overindulgence in alcohol, working under improper lighting or direct exposure to sunlight. The commonest cause, however, is allergy for which the treatment is to discover and avoid the offending substance.

Q—I must frequently pull white strings of mucus out of my eyes. What would cause this?

A—You probably have some form of conjunctivitis. Various eye drops are available for temporary relief but you should have your eye doctor find and remove the cause.

Q—What causes lobar pneumonia? Is it serious? Can you get it more than once? Does it leave any after-effects?

A—Lobar pneumonia, an infection due to the pneumococcus, causes the consolidation of an entire lobe of the lungs on one side in contrast to the patchy involvement of both lungs in bronchopneumonia. Unless treated promptly with antibiotics it can be rapidly fatal. Since the body builds up no resistance to the pneumococcus it is possible but not advisable to get this disease many times.

With prompt treatment complete recovery is the rule, but complications have been known to occur. These include pleural effusion (an accumulation of water in the space between the lungs and the chest wall), pericarditis (inflammation of the sac surrounding the heart), arthritis and jaundice.

Q—I have heard my doctor described as a gastroenterologist. He says that refers to a subspecialty. Would that make him less skilled than a specialist?

A—No. It means that, although his specialty is internal medicine, he has narrowed his field of primary interest to diseases of the digestive tract. You might even be justified in calling him a superspecialist. Other so-called subspecialties of internal medicine include cardiology (heart disease), endocrinology (diseases of the glands of internal secretion) and allergy.

Fashion Blooms in Azaleas

From the large-flowered Indica azaleas of the deep south to the swamp azalea of the north, these plants provide a wealth of unusual colors on the home property. They have a wide range of varieties numbering into the thousands. Some of their common names give a clue to their properties, such as "Sweet" azalea, "Flame", "Coast", "Snow", "Royal", "Roseshell", "Western", "Pinkshell", etc.

Not all the azaleas can be grown in all our climates but one or many can be found to fit the soil and climate conditions for practically every home property. Colors range from white through deep purple and red. Azaleas are exciting when in flower, either when used as specimen plants or as borders for walks, or in the foreground of taller shrubs and trees. Some are native to this country, while others have come originally from many parts of the world, largely from the exotic east.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Tuesday he will go to Washington Friday for a Saturday meeting with President Johnson and other governors to discuss federal-state relations.

Rockefeller also told newsmen that he did not know what action he will take in the cases of three Arkansas convicts denied reviews of their cases by the U.S. Supreme Court Monday.

education date for the three unless he commutes their sentences or unless new litigation to free the men is begun.

The high court refused to hear the cases of two Negroes sentenced to death for rape and a white man sentenced to death in the deaths of six members of the Leonard Dever family of near Trumann.

Rockefeller said he had not yet received the papers on the three — convicted rapists Orion Trotter and Albert Harris and Frank Harris, who was convicted of murder.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A trade paper item a few days ago focused attention on a Latin who cooly delivered when given 48 hours to build a castle.

"Sure, there are problems," says Edward Carrere, "but that's our work."

Carrere, 59, is a naturalized U.S. citizen born in Mexico City of a French father and a Spanish mother and married to a Norwegian.

He is also one of Hollywood's 200 art directors — the men who design the sets. He won Oscar nominations for his sets in "The Adventures of Don Juan," starring the late Errol Flynn; "Sunrise at Campobello," with Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson, and "Elmer Gantry," Burt Lancaster.

The "Camelot" company, the trade press reported, had moved into the largest interior set ever built at Warner Bros.

Representing legendary King Arthur's great hall, the stage-filling whopper measured 250 by 136 feet and 65 feet high. It has massive walls and columns, a soaring beamed ceiling, two thrones and a vast expanse for the knights' round table.

"It cost $500,000 and was one of 45 sets designed by Carrere for the $12-million spectacle.

A wiry, compact man surrounded by drawing tables with architectural histories at his elbow, Carrere — pronounced "Car-air" — admitted he had taken liberties with the design.

"Architecture of the period (500 A.D.) was rough cut stone and crude, heavy timber, which doesn't lend itself to a musical," he said.

He had softened the wood with carving and incorporated curving Roman roof trusses which, historically, came in later.

Not So Uncivilized
Mexico's Aztec civilization was believed by many to be cruel and uncivilized, but Aztec children were taught courtesy and self-control early in their youth, and young men who became intoxicated or who squandered their father's money were put to death.

Zingy Prints Lead Fast Life

Speed is the keynote for spring fashions. Prints are racier, colors are zingy and fabrics are designed for jet-set sophisticates. An added joy: colors are faster, apparel care is quicker and easier, thanks to textile improvements and washing machine advances, according to experts.

Naturally, the word that prints are bolder and gayer while colors are more varied and vibrant will appeal to style-conscious homemakers. Once upon a time it could have raised practical questions. How will the riot of colors wash? How will the blends wear? — she might have asked. Now, more than ever before, she can relax and enjoy.

When the dominant checks, plaids, and stripes in sculptured, lacy textures make their entrance in spring 1967, homemakers can rely on their increased washability and bleachability for three reasons: (1) textile suppliers and converters are putting more emphasis on quality in finishes and colors; (2) the new fabrics will be more resistant to shrinkage, wrinkling and stains; and (3) soft-goods firms will be furnishing more detailed laundering advice on labels and hang-tags.

This increased confidence of the home-laundress may account, in large measure, for the fact that 80 per cent of all homemakers now bleach about half their washloads. Moreover, reports The Clorox Bureau, the volume of liquid chlorine bleach consumed is increasing at four times the rate of population growth.

The continued adaptability of man-made fibers to bleaching further brightens the fashion picture and makes laundry-room routine easier. Even the exciting new durable press materials are generally bleachable. For extra reassurance, automatic bleach dispensers are speeding and simplifying the essential task of correct measurement and dilution.

It seems that even the official color names for spring 1967 are in spirit with the rapid style pace for the season. Would you believe: SNAPPY ORANGE, ZIPPY GREEN, and COPPER FLASH?

Washington has an annual snowfall ranging from five inches along its coast to 600 inches on the southern slopes of Mt. Rainier.

Short New Bedtime Story

Mini by day or mini by night? That is one of the intriguing fashion choices of spring — to be indulged on the avenue, on the beach or at home, depending on a woman's exposure quotient.

Many women have already tested and grown accustomed to spring's mini-mood by wearing short gowns and shifts for bedtime, note designers for Gossard - Artemis. Baby - doll and bikini pajamas broke the hem barrier long before skirts went above the knees.

Those who have hesitated to raise hemlines, say fashion experts, can take their own measure of shorter skirts in new sleepwear: One of the shortest bedtime stories in years is being told in this season's sleep styles.

In addition to "baby dolls," the short sleep story includes shifts in easy "tent" or tailored shapes and shortie pajamas, all breath-of-spring fresh in pastels or vivid shades of pink, aqua, yellow and apricot. Fabrics, such as Sta-smooth dacron and cotton which require little or no pressing, also contribute to the comfortable life.

And for the first time, all of the night shifts have matching pants that — in the case of a tunic slashed to the hip, for example — complement over-all design, too.

This spring mini-modes are also seeing the light of day, as outer fashion focuses on similar designs. These include loosely-fitted or flaring short shifts and baby-doll dresses. As skirts go up, pants made to match these styles show off in fetching ways. Some come in the form of mini-bloomers, in matching or contrasting fabrics, sparkling with sequins for evening; some are like boxer shorts; some, like tights, decorated with rows of ruffles.

To underline the short skirts and matching pants are specially designed, equally short foundations and petty-pants.

But the woman who does not choose mini-wear for daytime always has the alternative of shifting into short gear at bedtime in new spring sleepwear styles.

Realistic boys, these Club members, and active ones. They go to their Clubhouses for fun — most of it energetic. Or to join a woodworking or other craft group — no place for a silk shirt. Or just to loaf around with friends, usually with feet up on the furniture. Not a likely spot to find braid, lace, fancy boots.

Wednesday, March 15, 1967

But the members of the group, 750,000 strong, do have a definite interest in what they wear. Things should be comfortable, maybe even a little too large — "so you can move around easy." They should be durable and not take too much care: dungarees, loafers, sport shirts. And they should be colorful. The boys admit to a preference for the right colors.

A third stresses the practical point of view: "How can you run or play if your trousers are so tight you have to go up
